APPENDIX D

Full Council October 2026 – National Highways Consultation on a Key Road Junction in Bexhill-on-Sea.

Earlier in the year, an organization called WSP was commissioned by National Highways to undertake stakeholder engagement on the A26, A27 and A259. Cllrs Wilson and Goss attended one of these meetings and provided input and feedback.

Following on from this, WSP have been in touch as follows:

'Following on from the stakeholder engagement that we undertook back in the spring on the A26, A27 and A259 (see attached meeting notes) we have now been appointed by National Highways to undertake a more detailed study on the A259 Belle Hill / Litte Common Road at the junction with Common Valley Way / London Road at Bexhill, East Sussex. The location of the junction in question is shown in the screenshot below.

As part of this detailed study National Highways have asked us to undertake stakeholder engagement. Obviously, I am conscious that we already discussed this junction as part of the previous stakeholder engagement (as set out above) so I don't think it is necessary to repeat these discussions. However, if you do have any additional comments / feedback in relation to the issues / problems at this junction and any potential solutions then do please let me know and I will include these as part of the process.'

So, at the meeting Cllrs will be asked for any feedback they would like to give WSP about this junction.

The screenshot of the junction is shown overleaf.
